DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to because elements 11 and 12 in Fig. 1 should be textually labeled. A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because the entire abstract is replete with grammar errors. It also is not clear what the invention is from the abstract.

Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

Applicant is reminded of the proper content of an abstract of the disclosure.

A patent abstract is a concise statement of the technical disclosure of the patent and should include that which is new in the art to which the invention pertains. If the patent is of a basic nature, the entire technical disclosure may be new in the art, and the abstract should be directed to the entire disclosure. If the patent is in the nature of an improvement in an old apparatus, process, product, or composition, the abstract should include the technical disclosure of the improvement. In certain patents, particularly those for compounds and compositions, wherein the process for making and/or the use thereof are not obvious, the abstract should set forth a process for making and/or use thereof. If the new technical disclosure involves modifications or alternatives, the abstract should mention by way of example the preferred modification or alternative.

The abstract should not refer to purported merits or speculative applications of the invention and should not compare the invention with the prior art.

Where applicable, the abstract should include the following:

- (1) if a machine or apparatus, its organization and operation;
- (2) if an article, its method of making;
- (3) if a chemical compound, its identity and use;
- (4) if a mixture, its ingredients;
- (5) if a process, the steps.

Extensive mechanical and design details of apparatus should not be given.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-8 and 12-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

As to claim 1, lines 9-11, "lowering percentage of the image area on the photoconductor when the potential is detected, the toner covering" does not make sense. What is the toner covering?

As to claim 5, line 3, "the developing bias" lacks antecedent basis.

As to claim 8, lines 2-7, "the developing device ... to suppress the carrier fly" is replete with grammar errors and appears to be a long run on sentence.

Art Unit: 2852

As to claim 8, line 8, "the carrier fly" lacks antecedent basis.

As to claim 12, line 3, "the detection value" lacks antecedent basis.

As to claim 13, lines 2-5, "the image formation apparatus ... corresponding to the detection value .. of the humidity sensor" is replete with grammar errors. Where is "the potential lowering amount" discussed in the claims 9, 11, and 13?

As to claim 13, line 5, "the detection value" lacks antecedent basis.

As to claim 13, line 6, "the humidity sensor" lacks antecedent basis.

As to claim 15, lines 6-9, "a developing device ... controlling a developing electric field" is replete with grammar errors. In addition, how does the developing device detect a potential of the image area after transfer?

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-8 and 12-16 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

Claims 9-11 and 17 are allowed over the prior art of record.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Gyotoku et al. (Japan, 949) discloses an electrification control in an image forming apparatus. Takehara et al. (Japan, 994) discloses controlling electrifying bias and developing bias corresponding to the recognized layer thickness change of the photosensitive layer. Nishimura et al. (Japan, 608) discloses controlling developing potential above a threshold value. Kawai et al. and Tomizawa et al. disclose art in controlling various processes of the image forming apparatus. Tonegawa discloses art in determining a layer thinning of the photoconductor.
